

All of the summer work is on a Google Classroom page. Please register for the Google Classroom to review and submit all of your summer work.

Google Classroom Code: d39i0hf

Below are the directions for the summer work, they are posted on Google Classroom

In this Google Classroom you will be posting your summer work. Over the course of the summer you will need to post periodically (twice in June, twice in July and twice in August). Each post will need to be your reaction to a current event, a post should be about a paragraph in length. I will be posting articles, video clips and podcasts to this Google Classroom, you can respond to any of the ones I post. You are also more than welcome to post your own article, video clip or podcast (from a reputable source) and respond to that. On the first day of class you will be participating in a graded class discussion about the events of the summer. Please feel free to email me any questions.
